

Dear Friends of VIMM,

In this unprecedented time, the world has experienced monumental change – and hardship. The coronavirus has impacted us all. Despite this, we have risen to the challenge and continue to love, to appreciate, to pray – to live with gratitude.

That said, I am writing to express my gratitude to you, personally.

Volunteers in Medical Missions (VIMM) depends on your willingness to GO and to be the hands and feet of Jesus; and to GIVE financial contributions to reach our sick and hurting brothers and sisters around the world. Amidst such challenging times, our medical mission work and other planned fundraising efforts came to an unexpected halt.

Through it all, I have not once felt like you aren't supporting our cause.

I have felt – and continue to feel – your prayers, well wishes and blessings for this organization, our volunteers, and the thousands of men, women and children that need our help.

And for that, I thank you from the bottom of my heart.

Due to the coronavirus crisis, VIMM was forced to suspend many of our trips for 2020. And while we understand that canceling our trips and complying with world-wide travel restrictions is for the greater good of our global community, the most vulnerable populations are suffering from the lack of care our volunteers provide.

The good news is, we are currently organizing trips for 2021. We are excitedly planning to send teams out again. And as you know, these teams will provide life-saving medicine, supplies and treatment in various developing countries.

Now, I'd like to ask you for your support.

VIMM must continue to operate throughout this year to foster the great work established over the past 34 years; we must continue to provide resources to our partners who are still ministering to the sick and hurting; and we must fund our Village Healthcare Workers so pregnant mothers, children with fevers, and elderly people in remote villages can continue getting the help they so desperately need – in our absence.

Your gift of $25 will make a significant difference in one of these areas instantly.

A one-time gift or monthly recurring donation of $25, $50 or $100 will help VIMM continue fulfilling the great commission and one of the greatest commandments – loving our neighbor as yourself.

Thank you for your support. Your generosity is a gift of hope, faith, and the assurance that God is with those in need – always.

With Gratitude,

Msiba Dalton
VIMM Executive Director
